Differences Between CIA and DIA in Analyzing Military Situation

in Eastern Europe

REMARKS:

STATINTL

Bruce reports that in the last two weeks DIA has reported an increase in the number of Soviet Divisions in Czechoslovakia and given credence to unconfirmed reports and rumors of Soviet troop movements in Eastern Europe. DIA's reporting concludes that the USSR "is improving its military capabilities in Eastern Europe."

OSR believes that DIA has drawn the wrong conclusions from reports, which are not confirmed

OSR continues to believe that there are no significant Soviet troop movements or reinforcements in Eastern Europe, and that Soviet military readiness in that area has been significantly reduced since late summer. STATINTL
